APC SURVEY

APC Survey on the significance of remittance of African migrants in Germany to the socio-economic development of Africa.

Purpose

Remittance of migrant workers to their families is a normal phenomenon globally but this survey will attempt to assess the role of African migrants in the socio-economic development of Africa and their families back home. Emphasis will be laid on the goal of remittance and how the senders assess its effectiveness. The result of the survey will be presented using power point in APC, publish online and also distributed to other African organizations and diplomatic units in Germany .

Method

This survey will be based on mail and telephone questionnaire as well as personal interview depending on the situation. The evaluation of the data will be analyze with the help of MS excel and SPSS. During the presentation of the result, some secondary sources will be consulted. We hope to distribute at least 1000 questionnaires and anonymous response will be accepted and evaluated.

Expectation

We expect the result of the survey to paint a picture of the global contribution of African migrants to the development of Africa.
